Foundation for African Real Estate Research

BENEFICIARY PROFILE

Nicky Nzioki

Nicky Nzioki is Senior Lecturer and Research Coordinator of the Department of Real Estate and Construction Management at the School of the Built Environment of the University of Nairobi. He also serves as the Chairman of the Eastern African Region in the African Real Estate Society (AfRES).

The IREBS Foundation has been a major sponsor of the participation of delegates from the East African Chapter of AfRES over the last decade and especially in the award of travel grants and academic scholarships to postgraduate students from the Eastern African countries.

I am personally a beneficiary of such grants from IREBS and this has enabled my participation in the annual AfRES Conferences including the recent support to the 2017 AfRES Conference in Johannesburg.

The sponsorship by IREBS has significantly contributed to the engagement of myself with other international and regional real estate practitioners and academicians from the various IRES-affiliated Societies. This has been a tremendous opportunity to exchange research and to meet various academicians whom we have been able to appoint to serve as external examiners to both undergraduate and postgraduate candidates here at the University of Nairobi.
